FFA Contests and Awards
Nearly 900 Attend
Convention Highlights Year's Work

Future Farmers from 260 Alabama chapters have completed another very inspiriting convention bringing to a close the year for 15,785 FFA members in Alabama.

Almost 900 members and advisors attended the convention this year which was made up of three days of contests, leadership training, tours, business sessions, and entertainment.

Dr. Ralph Draughon, president, Auburn University, welcomed the FFA's to Auburn. State President Billy Henderson, presided over all of the general sessions.

One of the highlights of the convention was a visit and address by Larry Whittington, National FFA Vice-President. He challenged the delegation to work harder and attain greater heights in their FFA achievements.

Competition, in all contests, was keen this year which can be credited to the vo-ag teachers in the state. Selection of officers this year was extremely difficult due to the large number of outstanding applicants.

This year's 269 State Farmer Degrees was another mark of achievement. This indicates that more and more boys are doing a better job in carrying out a supervised farming program and in community functions to enable them to earn this degree.

From the many outstanding boys in Alabama, five were selected as District Star Farmers and from these—State Star Farmer Larry Scott of Sulligent was named.

The new officers chosen at the convention are John Varner, Wetumpka, president; Mickey Humphries, Reeltown, vice-president; Jimmy Maxwell, Union Springs, secretary; Elwood Overstreet, Jackson, treasurer and Barry Siniard, Wetumpka, secretary; Elwood Overstreet, Union Springs, treasurer; Elwood Overstreet. The new officers were chosen at the convention.

Many Changes Made In Contests And Awards

Many of the contests and awards have been changed. The dates of many have been changed, the basic rules of some have been changed, star dairy farmer has been eliminated and a star poultry farmer award will be made. The broker production award as it has been in the past has also been eliminated. You will need to examine each contest and awards carefully and make sure that you understand all of the rules and changes when talking with one of your members about entering.
Now Is The Time For Action

CHAPTER FFA SWEETHEARTS - Many local FFA chapters select a chapter Sweetheart during the year. Photographs of chapter Sweethearts should be submitted to the Alabama Future Farmer.

WEAR FFA JACKETS AND T-SHIRTS - How many of your FFA members have purchased FFA jackets or T-shirts this year? Now is the time of year that they should be ordered in order that members will have them to use in the various contests. Some chapters have reported that they are getting jackets for the majority of their members. Let's set a goal that every FFA member who participates in any type of contest will wear either a jacket or a T-shirt and they will wear them during contest events.

FARM AND HOME SAFETY PROGRAM - We hope all chapters have their FFA Farm Safety Program well under way by this time. Be sure and get a good news release in your local paper every week concerning this outstanding program.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF CHAPTER OFFICERS - Why not make a good photograph of your officers and send one copy to your local newspaper and another along with your monthly FFA report. It may be sent directly to the daily papers if you prefer. Get a picture of county officers and handle in the same manner if possible.

LOCAL OFFICERS SHOULD GIVE SPEECHES - It is very good training and also good public relations to have each local FFA officer prepare a short speech and give it to local Civic Clubs and group meetings of various kinds in your community. We hope your local officers are being used in this manner.

LIVESTOCK SHOWS - Now is a good time to get ready for fat calf shows. We are hoping that FFA members will be well represented in all shows. Not only are livestock shows a good instructional program but also good public relations for FFA.

HONORARY CHAPTER DEGREE CERTIFICATES AVAILABLE - We have in the State Office a supply of Honorary Chapter Degree Certificates which will be furnished without cost to any chapter in the State. Names of persons to receive the certificate will be printed on them without cost. Why not give the Honorary Chapter Degree to several people in your community this year?

PUBLIC SPEAKING CONTEST - Remember that January is the month to hold the Chapter and County Public Speaking and Quartet Contest. We hope that every chapter will have some boys who will select for the subject of their speech something on Farmer Cooperation. As you know, the Farmer Cooperatives in Alabama are sponsoring the Speaking Contest and would be pleased if a large number of members would select Cooperation, or some phase of it, for their subject.

PUBLIC RELATIONS - We appreciate the good photographs which you have sent us, but we can use more in the Alabama Future Farmer and in news releases sent out from this office. Please enclose them either with your “Vo-Ag Teacher Release” or “FFA News Report” when sending them in.

FFA CONTESTS AND AWARDS - You now have new FFA Contest and Awards regulations as published in the August-September issue of the Alabama Future Farmer. We hope considerable time will be spent in studying them. Notice all dates, deadlines and eligibility rules. Let’s use these awards to improve our FFA program.

FFA MANUAL FOR ALL MEMBERS - Why not arrange for all members of your chapter to own a personal copy of the FFA Manual. They may be ordered from the Future Farmers Supply Service, Alexandria, Virginia.

USE OF FFA JACKETS - The blue and gold jacket has come to be recognized by all as the symbol of a truly great organization and the high ideals for which it stands. Let’s take pride in wearing it in such a way as to continue to merit the respect our organization has attained. The following policies concerning wearing of the FFA jacket should be observed:

1. Should always be clean and neat.
2. Should be worn only by active members and only when representing the FFA.
3. Should not be worn while working, grooming livestock, etc.
4. Should not be worn in pool halls, etc., where it brings disgrace to the FFA.
5. Additional emblems or letters should not be sewn on. Only the FFA pin representing the highest degree held by the boy should be worn on the jacket.
6. Should not be worn with sleeves rolled up or unbuttoned.
7. When badly worn or faded, emblems should be removed.
THE FIVE public speakers are being con­gratulated by Billy Henderson, President of the Alabama FFA Association. They are Leonard Smart, Fairhope; Richard Spivey, Goshen; John Varner, Wetumpka; Don Morris, Falkville; and Jack McCullar, Curry.

New Site Making Mailbox Posts

MAILBOX POST PRODUCTION goes on in high gear in the New Site high school vocational agriculture shop under the direction of W. D. Key, vo-ag teacher and FFA advisor. These posts are sold throughout the community to make the mailman's work easier and publicize the good works of Tallapoosa county Future Farmers.

Many of the mailboxes you see while driving through Tallapoosa county have posts holding them up that have been made by the New Site chapter of the Future Farmers of America.

W. D. Key, vocational agriculture teacher and FFA advisor at New Site high school, has brought his Future Farmers along with this project as a promotional program for the FFA through the last four years. His chapter winds up with about $2.50 per post invested, and each time a young farmer sells one for $5 he gets one to use at his home free.

The mailbox post projects started for the Alabama FFA in 1958. Since that time the New Site chapter has produced nearly 400 posts and distributed them throughout the county in the New Site school area.

Mr. Key’s system is to let the first year vo-ag students pour the concrete posts as their project in concrete instruction. The rest of the agriculture students paint, letter and otherwise finish the posts for use on the roadside.

The chapter has a truck with which they deliver and set up the mailboxes. They also letter the box holder’s name on the support arms of the post, and try to maintain the condition of all posts they sell. However, if a post is severely damaged, as when one is hit by an auto...

mobile, the box holder must buy another entire outfit.

The welcome signs along the highway leading into this small east Alabama community are also mounted on these FFA posts. So casual tourists as well as mail men are aware of the good works of the New Site chapter of the Future Farmers of America as they approach the community.

Former State President Joins Farm Bureau Staff

A former state president of the Future Farmers of America, Winfred Davis of Dadeville, joined the staff of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation as District Director of Organization for Southwest Alabama on April 15th.

J. D. Hays, Federation president, said Mr. Davis would work with county Farm Bureaus in 17 counties, helping to develop their programs and coordinating their activities with those of other counties and the 83,000-member state organization.

The new staff member, a 1957 Auburn University graduate in Agricultural Education, has been serving for the past year as assistant county agent in Tallapoosa County. Previously he had spent four years in the Air Force, and had taught science for one year.

"Mr. Davis' record for leadership in 4-H and FFA activities, and his outstanding work as assistant county agent, have equipped him well for his assignment with the Farm Bureau," said John H. Dorrill, Jr., the Federation's Director of Organization and Assistant Administrator. "We are pleased to have a young man of his ability and experience to join our staff."

a phone you don't have to run to

Running between the house and buildings to handle telephone calls, locate another person, or exchange information may be good exercise, but it's also time-consuming and inefficient.

Farm Interphone, through a simple arrangement of strategically located speaker-microphones, adds on-the-farm communication to your regular telephone service. Every Interphone station on your farm becomes a point from which you can control your operation.

To find out more about Farm Interphone, contact your Southern Bell Manager.

“Concrete ditch lining helps me control water loss, save time and upkeep labor. Earth banks can soak up as much as one third of your water. With concrete, all the water gets to the field—and in minutes instead of hours needed with earth ditches. The faster flow cuts evaporation losses, too.

“Upkeep? No holes to fill or break-outs to repair. No weeds. No reshaping of ditches. When you add it all up, concrete reduces my irrigating costs by at least 50%.”

LINING irrigation ditches with concrete is one of the most practical, money-saving investments you can make.
